Adsate Electropase: Gentlemen—For the past fire years my wife has been a sufferer from dyayonds. Se completely did the disease make a great of her former self that life was almost dewrost of her former self that life was almost de-paired of. Her nervous system was almost en-draly destroyed, and the slightest noise would from her labe a nervous spasm, which would last for hears Medical skill failed to bring sny re-Ref.

Through the recommendation of an eminent Hirraw we were induced to my the Elect opoise.

After a persistent use of the instrument, the effect ass seen wonderful Her nervous system has has been wonderful Her nervous system has been restored to its almost normal condition; her digestian is wonderfully improved; she is rapidly establish in Seal; and, upon the whole, is making a rapid recovery, which apeaks volumes for the a rapic recovery, which openso volumes for the worderful carative powers of the Electropoise, as her each was considered hopeless. If any are skeptical on the subject, let them try the Electroperson on the suppled, let wheth try the Electro-perso, and its wonderful powers will quickly dis-per all deabt. Yours truly, W. M. PROPST.

Health is Wealth!

WE GUARANTEE SIX BOXES to cure any case. With each order received by us for six boxes, accompanied with $5.00, we will cend the purchaser our written guarantee to re-fund the mency if the treatment does not effect a cure. Guarantees issued only by

JUST DYING FOR A HUSBAND .- A dispatch from Norwalk, Coon., eays: "Henry Ketcham, a Boston bachelor, who has lived slone for forty years, at last longed for a wife, and advertised in a matrimonial directory. The insertion of his name in the lovers' column falled to bring about the desired result, so he answered several advertisements in the same paper. Among them was one of a Mrs. Stillwell, of Wilton, a little town above Norwalk, whom he afterward identified as a Mrs. Saymour.

"Mre. Soymour styled berself a 'charming young widow' who was just dying for a husband. Ketcham was touched by this missive, and as once responded. He received a reply, in a delicate bandwriting, on per funcd paper. The letter was very effection ate, and in it was enclosed a tintype of the writer-a bandsome woman.

"She invited Katcham to visit her at Nor-When Ketchem called at the house at the appointed time, he was told that "Mrs Seymour" had gone away to spend the summer. A suppressed giggle, which came from behind the door as he retired, made the amorous bachetor blush as he departed.
